IS THE SOUTH TO BE MADE A POLAND?

The Southern States seem destined to find no repose from persecution. Over come in battle, reduced to general poverty by the results of a gigantic and sanguinary struggle, burdened with enormous debts, the means to pay which had been swept away by the defeat of her arms, lifeless, sorrow-stricken, cast down in spirit and energy, her bravest and best sleeping in the arms of death in obedience to her laws, the South, at the close of the war, was like a Nobe of nations, almost childless and cravenless in her voiceless woe.

THE WHOLE STATE.

We deprecate the out-cropping of sectionalism which from time to time occasionally manifests itself in our Legislature. Some of our friends in that body last winter, seemed to lose sight of the fact that they were elected representatives for the whole State, as well as for their respective counties. If members have not hearts large enough to take in the State of North Carolina, they are not worthy to sit as law-makers in her Legislative halls. We hope for the honor of the State that this sectional feeling will never enter the Legislature again.

A list has been prepared which shows that under Grant's Administration, the government has lost by the dishonesty of its officials, the sum of thirty seven million, four hundred and fifty-four thousand and five hundred and sixty-two dollars!

WHAT THE COUNTRY WANTS.

What the country wants is peace and quiet.—Hickory Tavern Eagle.

That is the true key-note. The people are tired of strife, of sectional hatred and military rule. The people of the South especially need a respite from persecution and war. They crave peace.

Armed soldiers are to-day stationed in North Carolina, and South

Carolina, among a people who are no more disloyal than those of Massachusetts and New York.

Grant came into office with the words—"Let us have peace," upon his lips. The people said amen! They longed for peace—they expected peace. Grant has only given them the peace of war save—the peace of the sword and the bayonet. The people asked for bread and he gave them a stone—for a fish, and he gave them a serpent.

We see it announced that the French Government has pardoned all the Communists for the crimes committed by them during the Franco-Prussian war. This is in striking contrast with the conduct of the United States Government, which has continued to punish with political disabilities, some of the best citizens of the South. Peace has been proclaimed seven years—but the Government still ostracizes from its councils a number of its own people for no other reason save that of party necessity. France can afford to pardon the blood-stained Communists in less than twelve months after they have been overthrown, but the Congress of the United States refuses to relieve the political disabilities of leading Southern citizens, because they will not fall down and worship the golden calf of Radicalism.

HON. S. H. ROGERS.
We are pleased to learn from a reliable source, that our distinguished Congressman, Hon. Sion H. Rogers, will probably be relieved of his political disabilities in a few days. Col. Rogers has assurances from high Republican quarters, that his case will be acted on favorably. We sincerely trust that Col. Rogers' hopes may be realized.

GOVERNMENT DEFALCATION.

In the early days of the Republic, in the old-fashioned days of purity and honesty, the discovery of fraud in any department of the government, however small the amount involved, would raise a howl of indignation all over the country. Nepotism was then unknown. The offices of the land were not monopolized by the President's relatives and understrappers. When an applicant for office appeared, the questions were, Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he faithful?

At a meeting of the Stockholders of that Road, on the 20th inst., Reuben Ragland, Esq., was elected President in place of Hon. Chas. F. Collier.

As Capt. Pegram is well and most favorably known throughout North Carolina, where he has many friends, we copy the article of the Index in full:

While we do not presume to criticize the first official act of the new directory of the Petersburg Railroad Company, we cannot refrain from expressing regret that Capt. R. B. Pegram has lost the position which he has so honorably filled in the Company's service. Capt. Pegram is deservedly one of the most popular as he is certainly one of the most estimable gentlemen in the city; and his record is one of which any man might be justly proud. It will be remembered that a sword was voted him by the State of Virginia for his gallant services in China, and his career as the commander of the Confederate privateer Nashville is written among the brightest pages of the history of our ill-starred struggle. We trust that though he has been deprived of his position on the Petersburg Railroad he will continue to figure in some other capacity of usefulness in the community.

CAPT. R. B. PEGRAM.

The Petersburg Index of the 21st, alluding to the fact that this distinguished and courteous gentleman has lost his position as Superintendent of the Petersburg and Weldon Rail Road Company, by reason of the abolition of the office, pays Capt. Pegram the deserved compliment we copy below.

Having obtained patents upon both of these farm implements, I am prepared to manufacture them to a limited extent this spring. All persons using either the Sulky Plow or Cotton Planter will please communicate with me at once, in order that I may supply the demand as far as possible.

Both the Plow and Planter were used last year, and gave universal satisfaction.

I have made a Sulky Plow with adjustable tines, which is adjustable to the soil.

The Liberal Republican Movement
Senator Sumner's Position—He will not support Grant's Re-Elec-
—General Garfield Non-Committal
—Mr. Dawes Unpronounced.

A conversation with Senator Sumner to-day revealed the fact that he had not been asked to preside at the Cincinnati Convention, for the simple reason that there is nobody having authority to offer him such a position; but there is little doubt that he will attend the Convention, and there is little doubt that, if so, he will be elected to preside over its deliberations. In his conversation to-day he said he was the master of his own opinions, and that while he would not, on any account, ally himself to a party wherein Democrats were candidates, and would not, on any account, vote for or encourage the election of Democrats, neither would he, on any account, support General Grant for re-nomination or re-election. His colleague, Senator Wilson, had a long conversation with him on Friday, when the whole subject was discussed. Mr. Sumner announced to Wilson that he feared the time had come, or would shortly come, when their paths, politically, would diverge, but that he hoped no personal unkindness would grow out of them. He advised Senator Wilson to go, with other strong friends of the President, to Gen. Grant and urge upon him to withdraw his name as a candidate before the American people, and not allow it to go before delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, and thus achieve a name for unfriendly and magnanimous conduct second to none in history; that if he persisted in being a candidate, and the office holders should succeed in re-nominating him, he would simply and emphatically be the disunited candidate so far as party is concerned.

Colonel Forney dined with Mr. Sumner on Saturday that evening, and asked him directly if he was going to Cincinnati. He refused to say that he was not. He farther said that in his estimation, no men had done so much to cause the disruption in the party as Colonel Forney and Senator Wilson. He said the same thing to-day to a Massachusetts man that he was the most superior article of FISH GUANO now so well known from long experience in its use throughout the country, and to render it more attractive to the market, it is necessary to improve the quality and composition of the product, and to increase the yield per acre.

BE TRUE TO ME.

Be true to me!
Oh do not let me blaze
Upon the altar of thy heart burn low;
But nurse with fondest zeal its blessed rays;
That it may kindle to a brighter glow!
Be true to me!

Be true to me!
Be at the side of hours
Calm and melancholy in the midnight air;
When unto thee my wearied spirit turns
For sweet repose from all the storms of care.

Be true to me!

Be true to me!
Not always may the bloom
Of hope and gladness on my cheeks remain;
And when dark thoughts shall shade my soul with gloom,
Thy tender accents still may soothe its pain.

Be true to me!

Be true to me!
Or, like the lone hermit,
Without its compass on some stormy sea,
No beam of light to guide it through the dark.
If thou prove faithless, will existence be,
Be true to me!

Home Pleasures.

It is to the family fireside that we naturally turn and expect to find real, unalloyed happiness. When we fail in finding it there, in the place intended for it to dwell in all its purity and loveliness, we seldom find it anywhere. Where there is a cold, chilling restraint felt among the members of a household, there can never be that warmth and tenderness of feeling which is found in a family group where all endeavor to please and be pleased. It does the soul good to enter such a home, and see and feel the influence of the pleasurable feelings elicited by those little words of kindness, small pictures copied and enlarged to any size and finely finished.
